Hello Legislators, EFSEC is ignoring the Yakama tribe's concerns along with all the concerns of the citizens of Klickitat County. Carriger solar is being sited on land important to the Yakama tribe and USDA prime farmland in violation of RCW 89.10. Carriger solar brings nothing but harm and devastation to Klickitat County and its people. Once Carriger solar has made all the money planned they will file bankruptcy and Klickitat County people will be the responsible for the costly clean-up. Carriger solar hired Tetra-Tech to do their tribal cultural study. Tetra-tech has a history of falsifying their reports. The Tetra-Tech Hunter Point Naval study is one example of this fraudulent reporting which put employees in prison. <https://sfstandard.com/2025/01/17/san-francisco-hunters-point-shipyard-settlement-tetra-tech/> Tetra-tech did a cultural study on property adjoining mine. Five Tetra-Tech employees walked through the tall vegetation in the farm field rarely looking down walked back to their SUV and that was their cultural study. EFSEC accepted Tetra-Tech's study. To illustrate how little EFSEC employees care about the people's concerns they voted to grant expedited processing and then they allowed the people to comment. EFSEC's decision was made before the meeting started. The meeting was an illusion to make it appear that people have a say in their government. All the useless energy projects are being sited by EFSEC in eastern Washington and never on the westside of the state. The Yakama tribe, the people of Klickitat County and the people of eastern Washington are tired of EFSEC's abuse and it's up to you legislators to make it stop. Greg Wagner C.E.A.S.E.
