

Respondent No: 10Login: AnonymousEmail: n/aResponded At: Oct 02, 2025 15:11:20 pmLast Seen: Oct 02, 2025 15:11:20 pmIP Address: n/a

Q1. Name michael minelli

Q2. Email address compari64@gmail.com

Q3. Are you part of an Agency or Organization? No

Q4. Share any comment

EFSEC, It's impossible to make an informed comment when insufficient factual information was shared. Information regarding the location of currently planned turbines relative to the location of the new turbine plan in relation to the nest(s) location is essential. Would it be beyond reason to include a map? If not why not? The endangered Ferruginous Hawk is the largest hawk in the U.S. with some measuring a wing span of approx. 6 ft. They often migrate across several states for the winter. How would .6 miles, (3180 feet) be a reasonable /sufficient protective buffer for nesting and foraging. Was the obviously critical information purposely left out or was it an intentional error.?

Q5. Upload your document (optional) not answered

Q6. Upload a picture (optional) not answered

Q7. Did you also share a video? No

Q8. What is the title of your video? not answered