Re: Goose Prairie Solar Project – Request for Approval of Upstream Indirect Transfer of Control of Site Certification Agreement

Dear Chair Beckett and Members of the Council:

Goose Prairie Solar LLC ("Certificate Holder") respectfully submits this request to the Washington Energy Facility Site Evaluation Council ("EFSEC" or "Council") seeking approval, pursuant to WAC 463-66-100, of an upstream indirect transfer of control of the Site Certification Agreement ("SCA") for the Goose Prairie Solar Project located in Yakima County, Washington (the "Project").

The proposed transaction involves a change solely in the upstream ownership structure of the Certificate Holder. Goose Prairie Solar LLC will remain the SCA holder and owner of the Project at all times, and there will be no transfer of the SCA itself, no change to the identity of the Certificate Holder, and no modification to the Project's location, design, generating capacity, operating characteristics, or obligations under the SCA.

Under the proposed transaction, Mustang Yieldco Acquirer LLC will acquire the indirect upstream ownership interests of Goose Prairie Solar LLC. Upon closing, the Project will be owned through an investment platform jointly backed by British Columbia Investment Management Corporation, Norges Bank Investment Management, and Brookfield Infrastructure Income Fund, with Brookfield continuing to provide operational and asset management services pursuant to an existing master services arrangement. This structure ensures continuity of management, operational oversight, and compliance with the SCA.

As detailed in the enclosed Application for Approval of Indirect Transfer of Control, the proposed upstream ownership change will not affect the Certificate Holder's ability to comply with the SCA or with applicable regulatory requirements. The entities that will ultimately control the Certificate Holder possess the organizational, managerial, technical, and financial capability necessary to ensure continued compliance with the SCA, including satisfaction of all financial assurance requirements.

Accordingly, the Certificate Holder respectfully requests that the Council approve the proposed indirect transfer of control associated with the upstream ownership change. We look forward to responding to any questions the Council may have.

Sincerely,
